PAPER 1: CASE STUDY

Choose one language disorder. It can be a childhood language disorder or an adult language disorder. Choose only one of the two topics and only 1 disorder.

Try to organize the paper based on key components, eg: description, cause, types, speech characteristics, other characteristics, associated problems, assessment, intervention, and prognosis. In addition, you may include pictures, tables, and/or provide examples, when possible. You can include an actual case study from a website, text book, or a journal article.

The paper must include an abstract and a conclusion. Double spacing must be used and the paper should be less than 6 pages. All the references must be cited in APA format. Please read the syllabus for additional instructions on format of the paper.
