In his latest book, leading educator and author, Kevin Kumashiro, takes aim at the current debate on education reform, paying particular attention to ways that scapegoating public-school teachers, teacher unions, and teacher education masks the real systemic problems. He demonstrates convincingly how current trends, like market-based reforms and fast-track teacher certification programs are creating overwhelming obstacles to achieving an equitable education for all children.

Kevin Kumashiro is the founding Director of the Center for Anti-Oppressive Education and President-Elect (2010-2012) of the National Association for Multicultural Education. He is a professor at the University of Illinois, Chicago and the author of “The Seduction of Common Sense: How the Right Has Framed the Debate on American’s Schools.”
